Scope of Copyright Transfer

By signing this Copyright Transfer Form, I will be relinquishing all personal, professional, and ownership rights to all designs detailed above.

This signed agreement also includes the Transfer of Ownership to any variations of the logo previously agreed upon and supplied as part of the initial contract.

Examples of these included variations could include multiple color versions, size and dimensional variations, landscape favicon, etc.

Unless otherwise agreed and arranged, I reserve the right to use the logo in my portfolio and in any number of online galleries & portfolios, as well as in printed literature including, but not limited to, books, catalogues, brochures, and magazines.

Trademark TM & Registered Trademark [®]

It is important to note that Copyright is not the same as a Trademark or Registered Trademark. This form does not provide any Trademark ownership or protection.

Restrictions & Caveats

The Copyright Transfer Form does not give you permission to use, modify, alter, replicate, or borrow any of the previous and unused logo ideas, concepts, or sketches previously shown and presented during the course of the project.

All original preparation materials, sketches, visuals, and unused ideas previously shown and considered will remain the property of We Digital Hub. I am free to use these unused ideas for future conceptual and client work. Where a previously unused idea/design retains a risk of diluting or causing confusion over your existing Brand Identity.

If you are seeking brand protection, then applying for a Trademark is the way to go. Unfortunately, we will be unable to help with this process due to the complex nature of hiring a lawyer and correctly applying & registering for a Trademark.
